COURSE DESCRIPTION

A course for all students who are interested in knowing how and why people change through the course of a lifetime. Covers biological, cognitive, and social changes from prenatal development to late adulthood. Studies scientific methods of collecting and interpreting data, analyzes developmental events from various perspectives, and focuses on applying this knowledge to one's own development. Utilizes textbook reading, tests, and quizzes. This course satisfies general education requirements in the social sciences area. 3 lecture hours per week.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

The primary objective of this course is to provide an overview of human development across the lifespan as well as developmental research methodology. By the end of the course, students should be able to demonstrate knowledge of:

- * the major fields of psychology
- * major theorists in developmental psychology and their theories
- * developmental research methodology
- * major issues and concepts in developmental psychology
- * empirical findings in developmental psychology

ATTENDANCE

Please refer to <http://www.dixie.edu/humanres/policy/sec5/523.html> for a full explanation for the DSC Attendance Policy. Regular and prompt attendance in class is expected of every Dixie State University student. An absence does not excuse a student from completing work missed. It is the student's responsibility to find out which assignments are missed during an absence. The above site also explains in detail what needs to happen if the student is absent from class because of a university-sports event, club activity, field trip for other classes, etc.

CLASSROOM POLICY:

PLEASE TURN OFF ALL ELECTRONIC DEVICES NOT FOR CLASS USE!

1. Come to class on time. It can be distracting to have students coming/going at different times. Also, please make every effort to stay for the entire class period. If arriving/leaving on time is going to be an issue, please contact me so we can resolve this.

2. Read text before class and come prepared to participate in class discussions and small group activities. There will be periodic quizzes at the beginning of class.

3. Students will be courteous and respectful towards one another and the instructor. Students will refrain from making harassing and discriminating comments in the classroom. Teachers at Dixie State University have the right to manage the classroom environment to ensure a good learning climate. Toward this end, teachers (or college security) may dismiss and remove disruptive students from individual class activities. If a student's behavior continues to disrupt class activities, the teacher may dismiss and cause the removal of disruptive students from their course. Please refer to the DSC Academic Discipline policy for more information:

<http://www.dixie.edu/humanres/policy/sec3/334.html>
www.dixie.edu/humanres/policy/sec5/533.html

If you believe that a student in the class is interrupting your ability to learn, please notify the instructor as soon as possible so that the issue can be remedied.
