Capstone Research in Psychology

PSY 4910, CRN 24560

SPRING 2011

Course Description

Fulfills Psychology Capstone requirement. Requires consolidation of information, skills and knowledge learned throughout students' undergraduate studies, particularly in the Psychology Core and research areas, to conduct independent research to further develop their understanding of Psychology as a science.

Human embryo 6 weeks

Lecture: Tuesday and Thursday 1:00 to 2:15 pm, Education and Family Studies 114

Prerequisites: Psychology major; senior standing.

Philosophy/Expectations

This course will operate on the philosophy that active engagement with material fosters quality learning. There will be ample opportunity for in-class discussion with the entire class. Students are expected to read assigned articles prior to class and be prepared to participate in class to maximize the learning experience. Throughout your involvement in the course you should be utilizing what you have learned about specific issues in your psychology courses to contribute to discussion on assigned articles and discussions of manuscripts. The provided course calendar indicates when topics will be covered; however, please allow for some flexibility in the schedule.

There is no attendance policy for this course, other than for administrative purposes. However, absences may result in lost learning opportunities.

Social Science Program Objectives

Developmental Psychology

As an outcome of taking courses in the Social Science program, students shall:

1. Demonstrate the ability to examine human behaviors in a structured and organized way as a means of understanding the human condition. Measured by examination and/or oral and written reports.

2. Demonstrate the ability to recognize the ideas, people and events that are generally thought to be important by social scientists. Measured by examination and/or oral or written reports.

3. Develop a perceptual frame of reference based on social scientific knowledge. Measured by the presence of an attitudinal frame of reference which would be expressed in written or oral activities.

4. Exhibit concepts of critical thinking and scientific methodology in examining human behavior. Measured by the presence of an attitudinal frame of reference which would be displayed in written or oral activities.

Course Objectives and Outcomes

The primary objective of this course is for students to demonstrate and integrate their knowledge and skills in psychology. By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- Demonstrate knowledge of the major theories, concepts, empirical findings and history of psychology.
- Demonstrate understanding of basic research methods in psychology and be able to apply and evaluate those methods.
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills in using the scientific approach to solve problems in psychology.

- Demonstrate an ability to apply psychological principles to behavior and mental processes.
- Demonstrate an ability to utilize their knowledge and skills in psychology in a variety of professional settings.

Sigmund Freud

- Demonstrate an ability to communicate effectively in written and oral presentations in accord with APA style.

Paper

There will be one 20-25 page paper worth 200 points.

There are five paper options:

- 1) Independent Research paper (up to 4 authors);
- 2) Literature review (up to 2 authors)
- 3) Applied project paper (up to 2 authors)
- 4) Internship paper; or

5) Psychobiography.

Paper Presentation

All papers will be presented in class (see syllabus) and during an end-of-semester psychology conference and poster session. Each presentation is worth 50 points for a total of 100 presentation points.

Final Presentation: Thursday, May 5, 12:30 to 2:30 pm.

Article Presentation

Each student will select an article in consultation with the professor to present during a class meeting. As the presenter, you will be required to facilitate discussion of the article. The goals of the discussion are for students to:

- demonstrate what they have learned in psychology;
- use critical thinking skills to critique the information;

- demonstrate the ability to apply their knowledge to real-world situations; and
- integrate the information within the broader context of psychology.

The article presentation will be worth 100 points.

Policies for Absences Due to College Related Functions

For students, such as student athletes, who travel as official representatives of the college, absences due to college functions will not negatively affect the student's grade. The student is required to provide the instructor with a schedule of days that will be missed and will be required to negotiate any scheduled work ahead of time with the instructor.

Student Support Services

Students with medical, psychological, learning or other disabilities desiring reasonable academic adjustment, accommodations, or auxiliary aids to be successful in this class will need to contact the Disability Resource Center (DRC) Coordinator, Baako Wabahu, for eligibility determination within the first two weeks of the beginning of classes. Proper documentation of impairment is required in order to receive services or accommodations. DRC is located on the ground floor of the Financial Aid Office. Visit or call 652-7516 to schedule an appointment to discuss the process. The DRC Coordinator determines eligibility for and authorizes the provision of services.

Paper Options

Option 1: Independent Research Project

Up to four students may collaborate in designing and conducting scholarly research. Each student will be required to contribute at least one research question to the study. The paper will follow the guidelines for empirical research in the APA Manual, and should include a minimum of 10 scholarly citations.

Option 2: Literature Review

Up to two students may conduct a literature review on an identified topic. The goal of the review is to critically evaluate the research. Your paper should follow APA guidelines for a Review article. This paper should include at least 15 scholarly citations.

Option 3: Applied Project

For this option, up to two students will identify an application for the knowledge gained in your psychology courses. You may write a grant for a real or hypothetical project, or develop materials to use in a real or hypothetical setting. Your paper will consist of the text portion of the grant, or the protocol or manual for your project. Your paper should contain a minimum of 10 citations from scholarly journals or books.

Option 4: Internship and paper

For this option, you will identify an internship site and volunteer a minimum of 25 hours throughout the course. In addition, you will write a paper applying four concepts in psychology to your experience. Your paper should include at least 8 citations from scholarly journals or books.

Option 5: Psychobiography

For this option, you will identify a person of interest and use psychological theories and research to analyze an aspect of their life and/or work. Your paper should include at least 8 citations from scholarly journals or books.
