Dunn, D. S. (2011). A short guide to writing about psychology (3rd ed.). White Plains, NY: Pearson Longman.

American Psychological Association (2010). Mastering APA style: Student's workbook and training guide (6th ed.). Washington DC: American Psychological Association.

Overview & Course Description: Welcome to Writing in Psychology. This a required course for psychology majors and is recommended for students in all disciplines interested in understanding and more effectively using APA writing style. It is an introduction to the effective use and application of APA style for research projects, technical papers, and expository writing in the psychological and behavioral sciences. Prerequisites: PSY 1010 and ENGL 1010. (paraphrased from DSC Course Catalog)

Philosophy/Expectations: This course will operate on the philosophy that active engagement with material fosters quality learning. There will be ample opportunity for in-class writing, peer evaluation, and discussion. Students are expected to read assigned text prior to class, do assigned homework/preparation activities, and be prepared to participate in class. Students can expect that I will come to class very well prepared and that I will do my very best to conduct the class so that it is interesting, informative, and respectful.

Attendance and Participation: With so much of the work for this course done in class, it is vital that you attend every class period. Class starts at 2:30pm. Students who are late to class will not be able to earn full participation points for the day. Any student that is 15 minutes late or more will be considered absent for the class day – do not come in to the class past this point. You will earn points by demonstrating in your writing assignments and discussions that you have done the reading and any other preparation assignments for the day. See Dixie State College of Utah, Policies and Procedures Manual, section 5-23 on ATTENDANCE for further details.

College approved absences: Dixie College Policy explains in detail what needs to happen if you anticipate being absent from class because of a college-sponsored activity (athletic events, club activities, field trips for other classes, etc). Please read this information and follow the instructions carefully! The policy can be found at:
<http://www.dixie.edu/humanres/policy/sec5/523.html>

Class Courtesy, Respectful Behavior & Responsibility: We will have a class discussion on the first day about our responsibilities to each other in this learning environment. We will generate expectations for behavior during class that will help us create a positive, responsible, and respectful learning environment. Classroom rudeness will NOT be tolerated under any circumstances and may result in immediate expulsion from the class meeting and/or the course at the professor's discretion. Rudeness can include (but is not limited to): INAPPROPRIATE COMPUTER USAGE, PHONE USAGE, LAUGHING, NOTE PASSING, PASSIVELY SITTING, SLEEPING, TALKING OUT OF TURN, AND TEXTING.

Classroom expectations: It is the responsibility of an instructor to manage the classroom environment to ensure a good learning climate for all students. This means not talking when the teacher is talking, following instructions, and speaking and acting respectfully to the professor and fellow students. If your behavior is disruptive, I will first let you know verbally that you are behaving inappropriately. If it continues, I will send you written notice that your behavior must change. As a last resort, I will drop you from the class. For more details, please see the disruptive behavior policy at: <http://www.dixie.edu/humanres/policy/sec3/334.html>

Course Objectives: Students in Writing in Psychology will develop and demonstrate a basic understanding of:

- good writing habits: such as creating outlines and drafts; as well as proofreading and avoiding plagiarism
- how to effectively search and read literature in the social sciences and narrow a topic of interest
- APA format in Word for literature reviews and research proposals
- how to synthesize sources and create a literature review
- how to create and format a research proposal
- how to create effective presentation slides

Assignments: There will be class preparation and in-class activities on most class days (workbook, writing and editing). There will 3 writing assignments: literature review, research proposal, and presentation slides. There will also be an in-class presentation of your PowerPoint slides. All writing assignments will be graded on the clarity and coherence of their content, as well as their adherence to APA style. ALL ASSIGNMENTS MUST BE TURNED

IN ON TIME TO RECEIVE FULL CREDIT. No late assignments can be turned in without a valid excuse cleared by the professor.

Note: Valid excuses are documented excuses that make it clear that it was not possible to come to class (e.g. medical note of serious illness, car repair receipt on the day of class, etc.).

The Final Exam – a presentation of your PowerPoint Slides – will be in class on Thursday, December 13th from 2 to 4pm. For the final, you will be graded both on the content of your slides (adherence to APA style) and your presentation skills.

Academic integrity: I believe that most students are honest, and I don't want to punish everyone for the few that aren't. However, I will not tolerate cheating, and if I discover that it has occurred, a zero grade will be given for that assignment or exam, and you will not be allowed to make it up. Repeated or aggravated offenses will result in failing the course. Any time you take credit for work you did not do, you are cheating. This includes getting the answers to homework problems from someone else, copying information from a library or internet source and presenting it as if it were your own words (plagiarism), looking at someone else's answers on an exam, and asking someone who has already taken a test about what questions it contains. I have tried to design assignments and exams to minimize the temptation to cheat, but it is not my job to prevent you from cheating. If you cheat and are not caught, it doesn't mean that you "beat the system." It means you violated the Student Code and forfeited your integrity, whether or not you are caught. You will pay the price, sooner or later. (See "Student Code" <http://www.dixie.edu/humanres/policy/sec5/533.html#appeals>).

Student Appeals: Students who believe themselves wrongfully disciplined may appeal those disciplinary actions through the standard grievance procedure. (Policy 5-35)
